

Round table Discussion

Theme: This roundtable will explore how the convergence of systems biology, data science, artificial intelligence, equipment and bioprocess engineering can redefine the future of fermentation and bioproduction. In addition to scientific and technological challenges, the discussion will address the evolving economic landscape and funding environment for breakthrough biotechnology projects, particularly in fermentation-based innovations.